

Fortnightly Newsletter- Friday 3rd November

- Overall

Welcome back to all students following a hopefully restful and productive half term. This week has been the re-sit maths and English exams and we hope that all students re-sitting are successful. In the meantime all students should continue attending all lessons until the results are confirmed.

- Assembly guest speakers: Teenage Cancer Trust

The students welcomed a guest from the Teenage Cancer Trust who aimed to address any worries or concerns the students might face. It was an informative and thought provoking assembly. For further information please see the link below.

- We are now welcoming applications from Y12 and Y13 students for the ESRC Festival of Social Sciences

In the 15th year of the Festival of Social Science, this event ran by the University of Sheffield really is a fantastic opportunity to Debate, Discover, and Discuss.

Event Date: Wednesday 8th November 2017

Departments: All Social Science subjects

Application Deadline: Thursday 2nd November 2017

- Full details of the events can be found on our website
- EDT Headstart offer residential courses at some of the UK's top universities and provide an opportunity for students to find out more about degree courses and careers in STEM. Residential Headstart courses usually cost upwards of £375, however, The Brilliant Club has teamed up with EDT and is able to offer 25 fully funded places on the 2018 Headstart programme. Places are competitive, and students will be selected based on enthusiasm for STEM subjects and their potential to pursue these subjects into higher education. The deadline for applications is 12pm on Monday 13th November 2017. Unfortunately, we will be unable to consider applications received after this deadline.
- Please see the Headstart website for further information: <http://www.etrust.org.uk/headstart/whatisheadstart>.
